

About Our Company

Duey's Computer Service strives to provide excellent service to its customers; recognizing that any company can fix your computer but it takes a company that cares about its customers to explain how the problem was fixed in plain English without using techno-babble.

Duey's Computer Service recognizes that all businesses need state of the art, reliable technology and they need someone to turn to for answers. The staff of Duey's Computer Service lives and breathes technology so they have the knowledge and experience to help these companies find the right solutions.

Duey's Computer Service acts as the Information and Technology department (IT department) for companies. This means more than just fixing broken computers. In addition to computer repair the company also offers one-on-one training. After training, often users can get tasks done in half the time resulting in significant increases in employee productivity, which translates into increased profit for businesses.

Another part of acting as the IT department for small businesses means that Duey's Computer Service works directly with other vendors so the small business owners or office managers don't have to deal with the details. An example of this would be when a small business wants high-speed internet, Duey's Computer Service will call the Internet Service Provider, order the correct internet connection with the options that make the most sense for that particular business, arrange for installation, order and install necessary hardware, setup the computers to use this connection, setup the e-mail accounts, and even deal with installing shelving or cabinets in which to store the new equipment. Duey's Computer Service does the research, forms the plan, and implements the plan.

Duey's Computer Service has come to recognize two very important facts. First, the time of business owners and executives is very important. Second, employee productivity is the point of any technology or computer system.
